

McNutt Warns of Labor Shortages In Key War Production Industries

The workers were represented during negotiations by the International Union of Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America. Deputy Labor Commissioner J. B. Lester appeared for the complaining worker.

On payment of $129.54 wages and a $10 penalty, the sentence was suspended, the defendant pleaded guilty.

The workers were represented during negotiations by the International Brotherhood of Papermakers, AFL affiliate.